

Hutterite Colony Food Production

The Hutterites are a communal people, living on hundreds of scattered bruderhöfe or colonies throughout the prairies of northwestern North America.

Licensed Colonies by County

58% of Montana's 50 colonies have a DPHHS-FCSS license

● Licensed for food production
● Not licensed for food production

15 Average number of families that live on the typical colony, where they farm, raise livestock and produce manufactured goods for sustenance.

Hutterites frequently sell their products at farmers' markets. If the products sold are whole vegetables and baked goods, a license isn't required under Montana statute.
